

Research study on quality of life and social functioning in individuals living with Parkinson's Disease

PhD Candidate Esztella Vezer and her research supervisor Dr. Frank Russo at Toronto Metropolitan University are recruiting individuals aged 50+ with Parkinson's Disease for an online study that will investigate the relationship between quality of life and social functioning, as well as help develop a tool for assessing emotional communication difficulties. The study involves completing an online survey, which should take approximately 60-90 minutes and can be completed at one's own pace.

If you are interested in taking part or would like more information, please visit:

TinyURL.com/TMU-PD

This research study is in partial fulfillment of the student researcher's doctoral degree requirements and has been reviewed and approved by Toronto Metropolitan University's Research Ethics Board (REB 2022-061)

Toronto
Metropolitan University

Smart Lab